Just a couple very minor suggestions – I really like the earlier version better, saying how they backed down on the promises they had made

Subject: revised dispute resolution letter

I have taken a stab at drafting the letter for Angeles and Tina's signature, based upon my understanding of the discussions last week including the minimum requirements that have to be met to resolve dispute. I've removed the technical discussion, which will go into a separate letter at the BCT level. I do think we need to discuss the benefits of a pilot test at the BCT level though, and that may be in our follow on letter.
